

HOME > LIFESTYLE > LIFESTYLE NEWS

Where to Eat in Miami: The Best New Restaurants

The hottest tables in town include Noah Teppenberg and David Grutman’s Casadonna and South Florida outposts of Pastis and Bouchon.

BY DEGEN PENER  NOVEMBER 11, 2023 9:09AM

Casadonna, a coastal Italian-inspired restaurant in Edgewater, is designed by Ken Fulk. COURTESY OF NGOC MINH NGO

-
-
-
-
-

Miami — where Jeff Bezos has just announced he will be living full-time and now home to soccer great Lionel Messi — has added a wave of new hotspot restaurants in recent months. From South Florida satellites of beloved bistros Bouchon and Pastis to the first-ever partnership between hospitality and nightlife moguls David Grutman of Groot Hospitality and Noah Teppenberg, The Hollywood Reporter has rounded up some of the best restaurants in the area.

Eva & The Oyster Bar

Dishes at Eva restaurant in Coconut Grove. ARIETE HOSPITALITY GROUP

In Coconut Grove, chef Michael Beltran has opened Eva, a Mediterranean-styled bistro serving dips including hummus, tzatziki and spicy feta, whole snapper, and short ribs kebabs. The restaurant is paired with The Oyster Bar, a Caribbean-inspired seafood and cocktail spot. 3015 Grand Ave., Coconut Grove